

Awards, Design, Furniture, Product
Valencian studio Arnau Reyna has designed a new chair collection with softly rounded lines in a wide range of colors, drawing inspiration from the shape of the peach

Global Design News May 26, 2022 1 minute read

Valencia, Spain

The Spanish studio of architects and industrial designers Ramon Arnau and Mariola Reyna, in collaboration with Mobboli, aims to make everyone feel comfortable in any circumstances, with the brand new Peach Chair Collection.

The Peach Chair Collection's design has been awarded a 2021 Good Design Award by The Chicago Athenaeum: Museum of Architecture and Design and The European Centre for Architecture Art Design and Urban Studies.

Its swivel structures with wooden legs or the metal one with four legs closed on a rod are offered lacquered or painted in the wide range of colors of the sample book to combine with any of the upholstery of the sample book making the offer flexible in an infinite number of possible combinations.

Arnau and Reyna design this collection of upholstered and comfortable armchairs with original and smooth rounded lines that give a wink to their own name "Peach."

Four models of armchairs with high and low backrests and two types of base that present individual pieces upholstered with a set of rounded and soft rubbers that fit into any space.